

THE CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY OF AMERICA
IS FEATURED IN THE PRINCETON REVIEW BOOK,
"THE BEST 378 COLLEGES" - 2014 EDITION

The Catholic University of America is one of the country's best institutions for undergraduate education, according to The Princeton Review. The education services company features the University in the new 2014 edition of its annual college guide, "The Best 378 Colleges" (Random House / Princeton Review.)

"Every college in our book offers outstanding academics," says Robert Franek, the guide's author and The Princeton Review Senior VP / Publisher. "We don't rank them academically, 1 to 378, because they differ importantly in their academics, services, and campus culture. That variety is their strength. Our purpose is not to crown one college 'best' overall, but to give applicants the resources and campus feedback they need to choose, get into, pay for, and graduate with a job from the college that's best for them."

Christine Mica, CUA's Dean of University Admissions states, "CUA has always been and will continue to be a University with an outstanding reputation. Our location in Washington, D.C., small classes taught by research faculty and vibrant student community attract the best and the brightest students. CUA is proud to be able offer academic excellence at a competitive cost."